Relationships

The Company of Others: Stories of Belonging	A creative collaboration by author Sandra Shields and photographer David Campion, this book uniquely captures the spirit and significance of personal networks. Compelling stories and photographs lead the reader on an intimate journey into the lives of five individuals—with no connection to one other and little in common, except in one respect: each person is at the centre of an active social “circle”—a network of caring friends and family whose lives are enriched by the relationship they share. An extraordinary and moving book about the transformative power of family and community.	Email: inquiries@planinstitute.ca www.planinstitute.ca
The Ties That Bind A National Film Board of Canada Production	Award winning documentary filmmaker John Ritchie takes a firsthand look at a family's struggle to let go, when every instinct compels them to hang on. Richie follows the Jordon family for almost three years. The result in an extraordinarily intimate film that reveals, with raw emotion and surprising humor, the complexity around one young man's transition toward a more independent life.	Email: inquiries@planinstitute.ca www.planinstitute.ca
Reaching Out; A portrait of social networks in Canada by Nancy Rother	Reaching Out is a portrait of facilitated social network development across Canada. Filled with the wisdom of individuals, families and facilitators from all walks of life, it is one of the clearest, most practical guides you will find to facilitating networks. The report is based around seven critical elements for creating and sustaining social networks, exploring challenges and offering practical tips for each.	Email: inquiries@planinstitute.ca www.planinstitute.ca
One Candle Power - Seven Principles that Enhance the Lives of people with Disabilities and Their Communities	The Communitas Team created seven booklets on supporting Circles in the mid 1980's. This wisdom has recently been updated so you can review the lessons they learned then - and in the intervening years. If you want to know	Email: inclusionpress@inclusion.com www.inclusion.com

Revised by Cathy Ludlum and the Communitas Team	about Circles of Support, this is a wonderful resource.
Weaving the Ties That Bind	An online course for facilitators. Using 20 years of PLAN's experience in developing social support networks, this course provides participants with the knowledge and skills necessary to become a social network facilitator. Designed to be both practical and inspirational, this course is available through the Plan Institute.	Email: inquiries@planinstitute.ca www.planinstitute.ca

Home

A sanctuary that your relative can call their own.

Canadian Cohousing Network	Cohousing describes intentional neighborhoods that combine the autonomy of private dwellings with the advantages of shared resources and community living. Residents usually own their individual homes, which are clustered around a "common house" with shared amenities. Each home is self-sufficient with a complete kitchen, but resident-cooked dinners are often available at the common house for those who wish to participate.	www.cohousing.ca

Other Resources

PLAN's Social Audit Website	Conducting the Social Audit was a milestone for PLAN. The board of PLAN implemented the social audit to ensure that the values around which PLAN is so carefully constructed are maintained long into the future. It was PLAN's means of holding itself accountable and provides a transparent view of the organization, reporting on both successes and challenges in a balanced and candid way. To our knowledge, PLAN was the first not-for-profit organization in Canada to have an externally reviewed social audit.	www.social.audit.ca
